Know Your Alumni – Episode 64 (Building an Innovative Public Health Career in the Digital World)

IIHMR University, Jaipur, is pleased to announce, “Know Your Alumni – Episode 64”, an upcoming alumni interaction session aimed at guiding students on emerging career pathways in public health within the digital ecosystem.

The session will focus on how digital technologies, data analytics, and policy innovation are reshaping public health careers globally. It will highlight the importance of data literacy, digital health systems, and technology-driven solutions in addressing contemporary public health challenges.

The session will be delivered by Mr. Rahul Pandey, Senior Operations Officer, World Bank Group (South Asia), who will share insights from his professional experience on building impactful public health careers in the digital age. The event will also include an interactive discussion to encourage student engagement and career-oriented learning.
