Healthcare Law:
What Every Hospital Manager Should Know

 October 28 - 30, 2026

Background

Running a hospital is not only about patients and operations. Hospital professionals make decisions that can have clinical, legal, financial and reputational consequences. A patient complaint, adverse event, documentation gap, consent issue, regulatory inspection or crisis can quickly become a serious problem for both the professional and the hospital. Understanding healthcare law is therefore an essential competency for effective management.

Knowledge of healthcare law is not merely a legal requirement but a strategic management tool. It enables compliance to the law, protects patients and staff, minimizes organizational risks, supports ethical leadership, and contributes to the delivery of safe and quality healthcare services.

This three-day program helps professionals understand the legal responsibilities that arise in day-to-day hospital operations, recognise potential risks, respond appropriately when problems arise, and develop systems that can prevent avoidable legal and operational difficulties.

Objectives

The objectives of the training programme are:

To provide understanding on the Indian healthcare legal and regulatory landscape relevant to hospital management

To appreciate hospital liability in matters involving medical negligence, consumer complaints and adverse events.

To understand the legal aspects of running domestic inquiry of legal nature

To learn to appropriately handle matters involving police, regulators, media and legal proceedings.

To develop systems that can prevent avoidable problems and reduce hospital liability.

Pedagogy

The programme offers a multifaceted learning experience through lectures, group discussions, case studies, and hands-on experiential learning.
