IIHMR University Jaipur with support from TDR, WHO Geneva hosted a workshop on developing online Implementation research (IR) course on Tuesday. This important workshop had the mission of finalising the peer reviewed lecture contents for online Implementation course, IR courses which are developed and disseminated by the network of universities supporting TDR's Postgraduate Training Scheme which will be a great contribution towards improving the quality of lecture contents, standardizing the lectures, and making them available across participating Universities. The workshop had participation from more than 20 senior faculty members from 8 Universities which are part of the second phase of postgraduate training scheme. Additionally, experts working in the field of Implementation research from many other organisations also participated in the five-day workshop.
