

Report of PRADANYA -GHMRC 2025 Report

IIHMR University's prestigious annual conference, PRADANYA - Management Research Conference (GHMRC 2025), was held on February 14-15, 2025, at its picturesque campus in Jaipur, India. This year, the conference adopted the theme "Transformative Solutions for Managing Global Health," highlighting the pressing need for innovation and collaboration in addressing the dynamic challenges of global health systems.

The healthcare landscape is undergoing rapid transformation, driven by emerging diseases, evolving health systems, and the increasing demand for sustainable solutions. Global health management research underscores the importance of innovation, resilience, and adaptability in tackling these multifaceted challenges. Studies published in recent years have demonstrated that integrating sustainable practices in public health, pharmaceuticals, corporate social responsibility (CSR), environmental, social, and governance (ESG) initiatives, and digital health can significantly enhance health outcomes and system efficiency.

Against this backdrop, Pradanya 2025 served as a platform to foster dialogue, share groundbreaking ideas, and shape the future of global health.

The conference was the brainchild of Dr. P. R. Sodani, President of IIHMR University, and was successfully conducted under his dynamic and visionary leadership. It was well-coordinated by Dr. Himadri Sinha, Organizing Secretary of GHMRC 2025, Provost of IIHMR University, and Dean of the School of Development Studies. He was actively supported by faculty members, staff, and students of IIHMR University, who served as members of the organizing committee and various sub-committees. IWorCon (IIHMR University's Workshop and Conference Committee) spearheaded the entire organization of the conference.

GHMRC 2025 featured four thematic tracks, reflecting the critical dimensions of global health management:

- 1. Transformative Solutions for Sustainable Public Health Management: This track delved into innovative strategies for managing public health challenges: Emphasizing sustainability and equitable access to healthcare. Discussions will focus on leveraging global best practices and policies to strengthen health systems in both developed and developing nations.
- 2. Cutting-Edge Methods for Sustainable Pharmaceutical Management: Recognizing the pivotal role of the pharmaceutical sector in global health, this track explored the advancements in drug supply chain management, cost-effectiveness strategies, and sustainable manufacturing processes that align with environmental and social objectives.
- 3. Innovative Initiatives for Sustainable CSR and ESG Management: With growing awareness of the impact of CSR and ESG strategies on health outcomes, this track highlighted transformative approaches organizations can adopt to address health inequities and foster community well-being while maintaining environmental sustainability.
- 4. Universal Digital Health and Analytics: As digital health technologies redefine healthcare delivery, this track examined the potential of big data, AI, telemedicine, and analytics to create inclusive, efficient, and resilient health systems globally.

A total of 605 persons participated in the two days conference: The breakup of which is given below:

Category	Numbers
