2. EVENT DETAILS

IIHMR University organised Orientation 2026, a four-day orientation programme held from August 12 to August 15, 2026, to mark the commencement of the new academic session and welcome students joining the University's academic programmes.

The programme brought together students from different states across India who had joined the Hospital and Health Management, Pharmaceutical Management, Healthcare Analytics, and Master of Public Health programmes. It provided the new students with an opportunity to become familiar with the University's academic environment, institutional facilities, programme structure, faculty members, administrative systems, and student-support services.

The programme included academic interactions, institutional orientation, wellness activities, and cultural engagements. These activities were designed to support students' academic transition, encourage peer interaction, and promote leadership, collaboration, communication, and professional orientation.

Through the orientation sessions, students were introduced to the expectations of postgraduate education, the importance of experiential learning, professional conduct, interdisciplinary collaboration, and active participation in academic and co-curricular activities. The programme also provided students with opportunities to interact with institutional leaders, faculty members, senior students, and invited professionals from the healthcare sector.

The programme culminated in a cultural rendezvous featuring Padma Bhushan Pandit Vishwa Mohan Bhatt, Grammy Award winner and creator of the Mohan Veena; Pandit Salil Bhatt, global Indian musician and creator of the Satvik Veena; and Mr. K. P. Panwar, Special Advisor, NITI Aayog and former Chairman, RPSC. This cultural engagement added a distinctive dimension to the orientation experience and encouraged students to appreciate India's artistic and cultural heritage.

Overall, Orientation 2026 successfully welcomed the new student cohort, introduced students to the academic and institutional ecosystem of IIHMR University, and provided a balanced foundation combining academic orientation, professional exposure, wellness, teamwork, and cultural learning.
