2. EVENT DETAILS

IIHMR University organised a Fit for Future Workshop to support students in developing the knowledge, skills, attitudes, and professional competencies required to succeed in a changing academic and employment environment.

The workshop focused on preparing students for future opportunities by encouraging adaptability, continuous learning, professional confidence, effective communication, teamwork, problem-solving, leadership, and responsible use of technology. It provided participants with a platform to reflect on their strengths, identify areas for improvement, and understand the expectations of the evolving workplace.

The sessions encouraged students to develop a future-oriented mindset and to connect their academic learning with practical professional requirements. Emphasis was placed on building employability, improving interpersonal skills, strengthening professional behaviour, and preparing for careers in healthcare management, public health, pharmaceutical management, healthcare analytics, development management, and allied sectors.

The workshop also highlighted the importance of resilience, innovation, creativity, self-management, collaboration, and ethical decision-making in professional life. Through interactive discussions and practical activities, participants were encouraged to take ownership of their personal and professional development.

Overall, the Fit for Future Workshop contributed to the holistic development of students and supported their preparation for higher education, employment, leadership roles, and lifelong learning.
