2. EVENT DETAILS

IIHMR University organised an Interactive Session on Healthcare Operations and HR Interventions on August 24, 2026, featuring Mr. Nikhil Mathur, Head of Human Resources, Narayana Health, Jaipur. The session was designed to provide participants with insights into the strategic role of human resource interventions in strengthening healthcare operations and organisational effectiveness.

The session offered participants valuable insights into contemporary HR practices and workforce management strategies within the healthcare sector. Mr. Mathur shared industry perspectives on managing human resources in complex healthcare environments, addressing operational challenges, and aligning HR strategies with organisational goals.

Key topics covered in the session included:

- The strategic role of HR interventions in healthcare operations and service delivery.
- Contemporary HR practices in hospitals and healthcare organisations.
- Workforce management strategies, including recruitment, training, performance management, and retention.
- Operational challenges in healthcare settings and HR-driven solutions.
- The integration of human resource management with quality improvement and patient care outcomes.

Through real-world examples and case discussions, the session enabled participants to bridge theoretical knowledge with industry practices. Students and faculty gained a comprehensive understanding of effective human resource management in healthcare organisations and the critical contribution of HR to operational efficiency, staff well-being, and organisational performance.

The interactive format encouraged participants to engage with the resource person on career pathways, skill requirements, and emerging trends in healthcare HR. The session reinforced IIHMR University's commitment to industry-academia interaction and to preparing students for leadership roles in healthcare management.
